
PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY
TODAY YOU GO OUT IN JOY.
HE LEADS YOU IN PEACE.
Lord, I'm walking out into today. Lead me out in peace.
"For you shall go out with joy, and be led out with peace. The mountains and the hills will break out before you into singing; and all the trees of the fields will clap their hands."
ISAIAH 55:12 WEB
prayertocarry.com

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

LED OUT INTO TODAY

Some mornings the day ahead feels like a list you're being shoved toward. Before your feet touch the floor, you can already feel the weight of what's waiting, and joy seems like something meant for other people.

Isaiah wrote these words to people who had spent years far from home and were finally about to leave for it. God didn't just open the gate and wish them luck. He promised to lead them out Himself and to walk ahead of them, and He pictured the hills and the trees cheering as they went. That is how He sees your going out today. It isn't a chore you're dragged into. It's a road He has already walked, and He is leading you along it.

Before you start your first task, step outside for two minutes, even if it's only a balcony or a doorstep. Listen to the wind in whatever trees are near you. Then tell Him you're going out with Him.

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

SCRIPTURE

For you shall go out with joy, and be led out with peace. The mountains and the hills will break out before you into singing; and all the trees of the fields will clap their hands.

ISAIAH 55:12 (WEB)

A PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord, I don't feel much joy yet. As I step off this porch and onto the lane, go ahead of me like that wind and lead me out.

PRAYERTOCARRY.COM