RUN TO HIS NAME.
IT HOLDS.
Lord, everything's blowing sideways. I'm running to Your name. Shelter me.

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

SOMEWHERE TO RUN AT NOON

By midday it can feel like everything is coming at you sideways: a hard email, a change of plan, someone's mood, a worry about home. You keep pushing through, but there's nowhere to stand still.

Proverbs says the LORD's name is a strong tower, and the righteous run to Him and are safe (Proverbs 18:10). In the ancient world a city's tower was where people ran when trouble came: thick walls, high ground, a door that held. His name isn't a password you say to get in. It's Him. Running to His name means running to who He is, in the middle of the storm, not after it has passed.

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

The next time something hits you sideways this afternoon, don't answer straight away. Step into a stairwell or sit in the car for a moment, take one slow breath, and say His name before you say anything else.

A PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord, the wind is pushing me every way at once. Let me get in behind Your name, where the air goes still, and stay.
