PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

SETTLED IN FOR THE NIGHT

At the end of the day it's easy to keep turning things over: what you did, what you didn't, whether it was enough. The body sits down long before the mind does.

Psalm 37 opens its whole call with trust. Trust the LORD, do good, and dwell in the land He gave you. To dwell is to stay put, to stop scanning the horizon for somewhere safer. Tonight you don't need to earn your rest or finish the list. The ground under you is His, and He has made it a safe place to stay.

Before bed, name one good thing you did today and one thing you're trusting Him with tomorrow. Say them out loud, then turn off the light and let the day be done.

A PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord, the porch is quiet and the grass is cool. I'm handing You what I did and what I didn't. Keep me here, safe, and let me sleep.
