PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

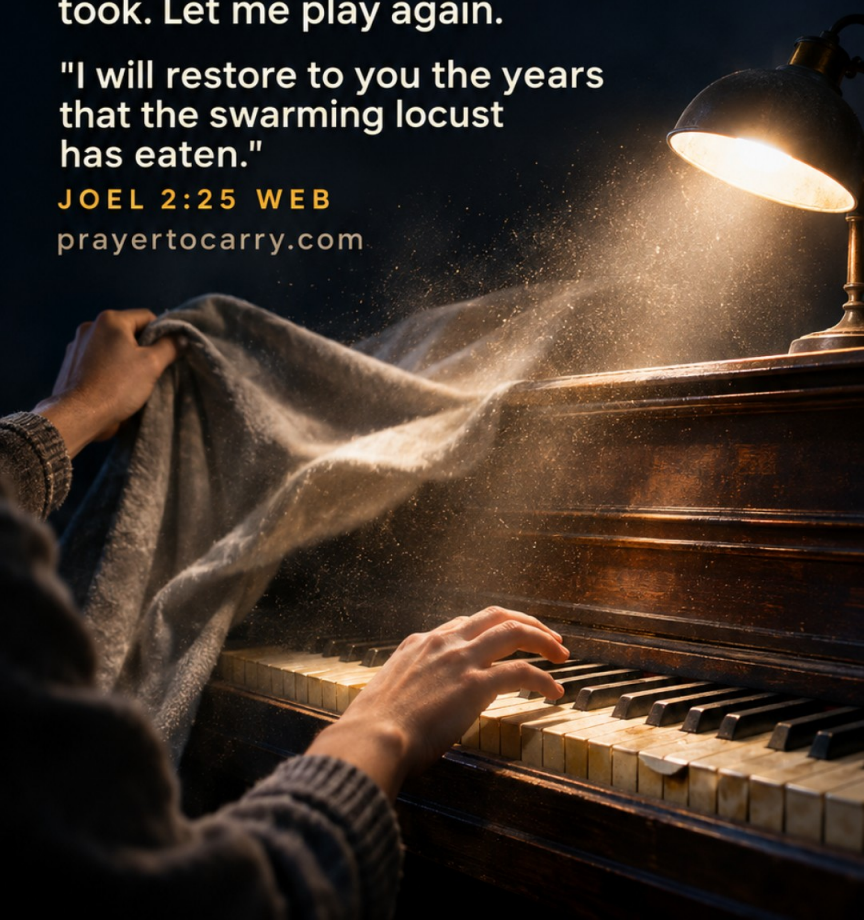

IT'S STILL IN YOU.
HE'S GIVING IT BACK.

Lord, I put it away years ago. I thought it was gone. It was only covered. Restore what the years took. Let me play again.

"I will restore to you the years that the swarming locust has eaten."

JOEL 2:25 WEB

prayertocarry.com

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

ONLY COVERED

Looking back over the day, maybe you noticed it again: something you once loved, a gift, a craft, a part of yourself that went quiet years ago. Life got busy, or hard, or you just stopped. It is easy to think that what you put down is gone for good.

Joel speaks of years eaten bare, and God's promise is to restore them. Nothing He gave you has expired while it waited. Paul tells Timothy to stir up the gift of God which is in you (2 Timothy 1:6). The years covered it; they did not take it.

So tonight, before you sleep, give it ten minutes. Sing one song, write one paragraph, sketch one thing, play one piece, however rusty. Then leave the rest of the restoring to Him.

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

SCRIPTURE

I will restore to you the years that the swarming locust has eaten.

JOEL 2:25 (WEB)

A PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord, the cover is coming off, and my hands still remember. Restore what the years have eaten, and let the music come back.

PRAYERTOCARRY.COM

