PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

THE WASTED YEARS.
HE MAKES THEM UP TO YOU.

Lord, I missed him growing up. From today, restore.

"I will restore to you the years that the swarming locust has eaten."

JOEL 2:25 WEB

prayertocarry.com

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

YEARS MADE GOOD

Maybe you can count them. Years spent far from home, years lost to a job, a habit, a wrong turn, or just to drift. Some of it you chose and some of it simply happened. Either way, the people you love kept growing while you were gone, and that is hard to carry.

Joel spoke to people whose fields had been stripped bare, season after season. God's answer was not a rewind. The word He uses means to repay, to make whole. He doesn't hand back the same years. He makes good what they cost you, and He starts from where you stand this morning.

So start there. Think of one person you missed. Tell them one thing you'd like to do together, and put a day on it. Restored years are lived one ordinary day at a time.

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

SCRIPTURE

I will restore to you the years that the swarming locust has eaten.

JOEL 2:25 (WEB)

A PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord, I've come home to people who grew up without me. Restore what the years have eaten. Teach me to stay.

PRAYERTOCARRY.COM

