PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

COMING IN LATE?
HE'S PULLING OUT YOUR CHAIR.

Lord, I'm coming in late, with less than I meant to bring. You said You won't throw me out. So I'm sitting down. Feed me.

"All those whom the Father gives me will come to me. He who comes to me I will in no way throw out."

PRAYER TO CARRY TODAY

A PLACE KEPT FOR YOU

Some evenings you come home with less than you set out with. The day ran long, something went wrong that you can't quite fix, and you walk in tired and a little braced, half expecting to be told you should have done better.

Jesus makes a promise here that has no small print about timing or performance. Whoever comes to Him, He will in no way throw out. He said it to a crowd who mostly didn't understand Him, and He said it anyway. The late ones, the worn out ones, the ones still carrying the day: the chair is pulled out for them, and the place at the table is still set.

Before you start on dishes, messages or the next thing tonight, sit down at your own table for one minute. Tell Jesus plainly how today went, the good and the bad, and then let yourself be welcomed.

A PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord, I walked through the door expecting a cold welcome. You pulled out the chair. Thank You that You never throw me out when I come.
